Our Website

The Pack's public website is located at www.pack289.com. The pack website is the backbone for being in the know about our activities, your child's progress, achievements, and other vital information.

Communication Methods

The majority of the communication of the pack will come through Scoutbook. It is very important that you sign up for email communication through Scoutbook. This is also where you will record scout achievement progress and scout activities like hikes and camping.

Den updates can be found on our pack Facebook page

www.facebook.com/groups/Pack289/.

We also communicate frequently via Group Me for different events and dens.

Pack E-Mailing and Email Lists

If you need to send an email to the pack, your den, or any leader or member of the pack, you can find all contact information on the Communications tab of the pack website.

All about Cub Scouts

Cub Scouts is a year-round program offering fun activities that promote character and leadership development. Den meetings are planned and run by a den leader with a group of scouts all the same rank/age/grade. Most dens meet once to twice a month. The Cub Scouts earn most of their rank advancement adventure belt loops/pins as a den. Scouts may also complete some elective adventures with their parents at home as well.

Parents are encouraged to play an active role in our programs.

Pack Meetings are held once per month and are attended by all the Cub Scouts in the pack and their families. Most Cub Scouts are awarded their belt loops/pins and patches during the pack meeting. Cub Scouts earn their rank by May of each year as long as they have completed all their required adventures.

The Mission of Scouting

The mission of Scouts, is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetimes by instilling in them the values of the Scout Oath and Scout Law.

The Aims of Scouting

There are four aims of Scouting: character development, citizenship training, physical and mental fitness, and leadership development.

The Methods of Scouting

The methods of Cub Scouting are living the ideals, belonging to a den, advancement, family involvement, activities, serving the community, and the uniform.

The Pack's Features

Boys, girls, families, leaders and chartered organizations all work together to achieve the ten purposes of Cub Scouting.

- .To influence the development of character
- .To encourage spiritual growth
- .To help Cub Scouts develop habits and attitudes of good character and citizenship
- .To encourage good sportsmanship and pride in growing strong in mind and body
- .To improve understanding within the family

- .To foster a sense of personal achievement in Cub Scouts by helping them develop new interests and skills
- .To show Cub Scouts how to be helpful and to do one's best
- .To provide fun and exciting activities and experience
- .To prepare Cub Scouts to become Scouts in the Scouts program

Wolf: Second graders work toward earning their Wolf badge.

Bear: Third graders work toward earning their Bear badge.

Webelos: Fourth graders work toward earning their Webelos badge.

CUB SCOUT INSIGNIA

Achievement and Awards

Cub Scout rank requirements must be completed by March for rank advancement.

Belt Loops/Pins: Cub Scouts earn adventures that are specific to their rank. There are advancement adventures that must be completed to rank up and elective adventures that may be completed for the experience. Adventures may be earned in any order. Completion of adventures are how the aims of character, citizenship, leadership, and personal fitness are developed.

Rank patches: On the advancement trail, a Cub Scout progresses towards a badge of rank based on their age. They need not have earned the previous rank to earn the next. Each of the ranks in Cub Scouting has its own requirements that are age appropriate, so earning a rank below a Cub Scout's current grade is not permitted. As a Cub Scout advances through the ranks, the requirements get more challenging to match the new skills and abilities they have learned.

Pack Family Camp: Camping 101

Camping is a key experience in scouting that'll introduce your scout to the outdoors and build foundational memories. Pack 289 hosts two family campouts (typically in Fall and Spring). If you are new to camping or have questions, please reach out to any of the leaders or experienced scouts. Even if you are not ready to join overnight camping, you can join us for the day. We will host a one-night intro to camping event locally to help everyone become familiar with to expect for our larger camps.

What to Expect

- Family campouts are open to the entire family (siblings are welcome). Everyone attending will be required to have a medical form on file. Medical forms are valid for one year (tip: make a copy for future scouting events).
- Family campouts are typically Friday afternoon through Sunday morning.
  - Friday: Arrival and setup; no programming or pack provided meals
  - Saturday: Programming (hiking, flag ceremony, campfires, den activities, etc.), pack provided breakfast and dinner (families on their own for lunch); pack t-shirt worn
  - Sunday: Takedown and clean up (a scout leaves no trace); closing activities
- Safety is a priority.
  - Buddy system. The buddy system is in place during campouts: no scout should be by themselves, even when going to the restroom. Adults should never be alone with a child (exception is known parent/child).
  - Pocket knives. Only bears/webelos who have earned their whittling chip card can use pocketknives. If they use it in an unsafe manner, their card will be taken away and they won't be able to use a pocketknife until they've re-earned it
  - Fires. Only webelos who have earned their fireman's hat can start a fire and they must have adult supervision. Fires may only be done in designated fire areas and must be watched at all times.
- Campsites typically only allow one vehicle to stay at the site which will be reserved for the quartermaster (person in charge of pack gear). Typically, you'll be able to drop off your gear and re-park.
- Access to electricity may not be available. If you have equipment that requires electricity (CPAPs, etc.) you'll want to plan accordingly.
- You will need to bring your own mess kit (cup, plates, bowls, utensils) for meals. The pack will have cleaning stations setup to clean out your dishes after each meal.

What to Bring

- 6 essentials
- Hiking backpack
- First aid kit
- Water bottle (filled with water)
- Flashlight (bring extra batteries)
- Sunscreen
- Insect repellent
- Trash bags
- Toilet paper
- Mess kit (cup, bowl, plate, utensils)
- Personal hygiene (deodorant, toothpaste/toothbrush, hand sanitizer/soap)
- Snacks and food for Friday, Saturday lunch, Sunday breakfast
  - Food shouldn't be eaten in tents as they will attract ants, and all food should be stored securely as it'll attract other animals.
- Cooler with plenty of beverages for your entire family

What to Bring Continued:

Camp clothing

- Texas weather can change so plan accordingly. A cold, wet scout is a miserable scout
- Rain gear
- Shirts, pants, shorts (make sure to bring your pack shirt to wear on Saturday)
- Sweater or warm jacket
- Socks, underwear, extras
- Hat

Sleep Gear

If you are new to camping, there are a lot of options out there for equipment. We've included ideas of what to look for but please ask if you have questions. You don't need to get the most expensive equipment to have a good experience.

- Tent (don't forget your stakes, poles, and ground cloth)
  - Tents come in all shapes and sizes. Typically, it's best to get a tent size big enough for your family - this will help keep heat in the best and will be easier to set up.
  - Tents also have 'dark room' or 'instant setup' features. They can help reduce light coming in or make it easier to setup but are by no means essential.
- Sleeping bag
  - Be sure to check the temperature on the sleeping bag and make sure it is appropriate for the expected weather
- Sleeping pad
  - Sleeping pad are a barrier between you and the ground which will help you stay warm and can be more comfortable than sleeping on rocky ground.
  - Air mattresses - while comfortable - do not provide insulation from the cold. Additionally, colder weather can cause them to shrink. If you do use them, make sure to bring extra blankets or something to create insulation between you and the mattress.
- Camp chair
- Small table

What NOT to Bring

- Electronics (video games systems, iPad, etc). Scouts are here for the camping and outdoor experience and electronic devices will take away from that.
